RESIGNS OFFIC

Premier Maura Forced to Accede
Widespread Popular Demand For Resignation.

Madrid, Oct. 21.—The Spanish cabinet resigned today as a result of the Ferrer crisis and King Alfonso XIII. promptly accepted the resignation. This action followed a long conference between Premier Mauga and the king in which the agitation resulting from the execution of Ferrer at Barcelona, was thoroughly gone over. The retirement of the ministry is a victory for the Republicans and for other factions of the opposition. A change comes at a critical moment when Spain, involved in unpopular Moroccan war, is exerting every Resignation of Cortes.

Madrid, Oct. 22.—The session of the Chamber of deputies today was exceptionally violent, the position of the government being further shaken. Several members of the cabinet, its premier, who, on Monday severed his relations with the cabinet, and arranged Premier Maura and his ministers, rebuked his attacks. A vote of confidence was not applied. He managed to shout: "We not fear threats of violence. We will remain, for to resign would be cowardly." The rest of his speech was drowned in a deafening uproar, the opposition shouting and clapping.

The letter goes on to state: "Since the news was received at the Ministry of the Interior, the Government has against King Alfonso he has worn a dejected appearance and fears he has expressed that his health may be affected. I am assured that the King is strengthened from sleeplessness and loss of appetite."

The Calm Before the Storm.

"Nothingwithstanding" statements to the contrary, and the apparent tranquility that reigns over Madrid is a calm before the storm. It is but a sham. No one acquainted with the situation will deny that the anarchist element is actively pre-

The latter are escorted by large bod-it is almost impossible, to send a news, unfavorable to the government by telegraph.

Bedford Remanded in Kinrade Case

London, Oct. 20.—The case of Edward Bedford, the Canadian who charged on his own confession with the murder of Ethel Kinrade at Hamilton, Ont., was called today in the street police court, but the judge was again remanded for one week when it was announced that certain papers concerning the case expected from Canada had not arrived. Bedford was arraigned on October 12, since which time the police have sought to verify the details of murder as related by him.

KING EDWARD ADVISES AGAINST AN ELECTION

His Majesty has intimated to Lord Lansdowne that the Tories are not to seek a general election at this time—fears Great Socialist, upheaval.

London, Oct. 20.—Times of extreme anxiety prevail in Europe and England should be weakened to the point of the situation. So declared the Duke of Norfolk in a public speech last night, his grace referring to the violent unrest in European countries, including that of England. Socialism is the barbaric hour. Speaking to the correspondents, a prominent member of the House of Commons said that King Edward was the first man in the country to grasp the dangerous tendency of public opinion and this accounted for His Majesty's sudden intervention in a manner that has been unprecedented in one hundred years.

"What did the King have to propose?" asked the correspondents. "That the two great parties should come to some agreement in regard to the budget which will be presented in general election at this critical moment," was the reply. "King Edward practically told the Tories that they were mad in urging a general election. Public opinion could be, 'is highly feverish.'"

"That the King put the matter to Lord Lansdowne," His Majesty expressly disclaimed any wish to do more than offer counsel. "The decision," said he, "lies with you, but I must tell you what I think. All I can do is to tell you to know your own mind and to know your own will in your judgment the path which you mean to take."

"I believe the King is right, and that a general election at the present circumstances would result in a Conservative Waterloo. The chances are 100 to one that the House of Lords would go down, and this must be prevented at all hazards."

From another source the correspondent learns that King Edward has expressed fear of a Socialist upheaval involving every great country in Europe if a general election is held in England.

Now His Majesty is reported as saying he is afraid that not only the House of Lords, but every hereditary institution in the country will totter.

RATHER THAN LOSE HUSBY Woman Elected to be Whipped Rather Than Leave Home

Toronto, Oct. 19.—A somewhat remarkable case has just been tried before Mr. Justice Wrynn at the court house. William Ryndress, a farmer of the township, who the district judge, some time ago, was the man's neighbors called at his home and told him that the wife had been acting improperly with a man of the neighborhood. Ryndress refused to believe the story, and put the informants out of his house. Then he was confused that the neighbors had told the truth. Ryndress thereupon told her that one of the two things must happen; he would leave her or she must be whipped. The woman elected for the whipping. She removed her clothing, and it was inflicted with a whip having eighteen inches long. Some of the blows broke the skin and drew blood. On the whole, satisfaction was expressed. The next day the woman appears to have told some of the neighbors what occurred, and the result was that a complaint was made before the magistrate, and Ryndress was arrested charged with aggravated assault. The warrant was returned on an affidavit made by the wife. When the woman was placed on the stand at the trial before Judge Winchester, she admitted that she had been guilty of improper conduct, and had consented to being whipped by her husband in preference to leaving him. She had left his house for a few days after the occurrence, but had been returned to him, and had been living happily with him ever since.

The jury found Ryndress not guilty of the charge of aggravated assault, but on the direction of the judge found that he had committed simple assault. The judge suspended sentence.

LEAPED FROM A WINDOW.

Toronto Man Tries to Take His Life at Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 19.—Henry Bremner, of Toronto, a prisoner at the penitentiary, made an unsuccessful attempt to take his life this morning. The man is doing a three-year term for shooting with intent, and has served about five years. He had been employed in the tailor shop for some time. This morning, when seated near a window, without any warning, he plunged through it head first, landing on a pile of broken stone. The jump for death caused quite a flurry of excitement among the other prisoners, but it was soon quieted by the guards.

When the guards were working in the yard went to the spot where the man struck the stone. They expected to find him mangled, but he still breathed, and was hurried to the hospital. He will likely recover.

Victim of Third Rail.

New York, October 19.—Oakley Brown, a well-known man in the subway at the underground yard at 14th street and Lenox avenue, tripped over a tie tonight and fell across the third rail. In an instant he was struck with a terrible shock, and the tracks and walls for many feet. He probably will die from his burns.

THOUSANDS FOR POLAR WORK.

Stops Polar Explorer Common Sense Man Would Like Try One.

London, October 19.—To Captain Scott, British Antarctic Expedition (1901-1904) is the second child here in small boy, who is very keen that the Union Jack should fly at the South Pole.

The above is a copy of a letter, written in a schoolboy hand, which was taken yesterday on Lieutenant Evans' trip in the office of the expedition in Victoria street.

During the last week thousands of letters have been received and sent, in every prospect of the necessary £100,000 being speedily raised for the expedition. But if it is to be successful, it has derived some satisfaction from the letters, which have been taken to have to get against the labor in replying to something like 700 applicants for places in the expedition.

All sorts and conditions of men were suddenly to have been invited with a desire to earn polar glory. One man writes that, although he is a foreigner, he is quite willing to become a British subject and fight for his country. He is sure that he would be able to withstand the hardships as many members of the expedition. Other applicants, however, are more territorial, clerks, miners, sailors, soldiers and domestic servants. Some are of the opinion that the expedition is a waste of money, and the reasons why many men are anxious to leave the country.

"Most of the arrangements for the expedition have been made by the men who accompanied Captain Scott on his previous expedition, and they are now being put into effect. The expedition will be accompanied by the 100 applicants in the capacity of principal medical officer, artist, and zoologist."

Much disappointment is bound to be caused among the 700 applicants for posts, but perhaps they need carefully reflect on the following qualifications which should be possessed by a polar explorer. They were considered necessary by the expedition of 1901:

A strong heart and good circulation of the blood. A long and strong spine, and the lack of food are sometimes terrible. Wonderful staying power—he may be called on to take part in a 36-hour march dragging heavy sledges. — He must be a physical finisher, an ability to take care of oneself in an emergency, even temper; nothing is so trying as the long dark winter when the men are bored up together in the igloo, in these circumstances, get to know each other's character, and find out what they are capable of. — Uncomfortable to live in. — Some knowledge of food—each man has to take his turn in "kitchen," and there is no one to help him. — Good, serviceable teeth. These must inevitably come times when the men are far away from the ship's stores, and when any kind of food is better than nothing. Salt and pepper are luxuries in certain circumstances.

The disappointed applicant who happens to be short of stature, but over, need not attribute his failure to his lack of height. It is a popular fallacy that only massive built men are fitted for polar work. As a fact, experience has shown that the smaller and more man can wrestle with the hardships of the work better than the larger fellows. Captain Scott himself, in his own case, and Lieutenant Evans, who has already proved his fitness for the work, is extremely slight of build. The man's muscle is the determining factor, and his determination.

COMMITTS MURDER FOR MURDER.

Woman Charged With Murdering Polish Girl for Money.

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 19.—In the Supreme Court, the trial of Mrs. Blanche Buszaki, of Niagara Falls, indicted for the murder, in the first degree, of Sophia Kinnicki, was begun.

About thirty witnesses had been examined up to six o'clock resulting in the selection of five jurymen. The defendant is charged with administering arsenic to Sophia, a domestic who was in her employ. It is alleged that the Russian woman ran employment bureau in Toronto, Chicago, and Niagara Falls, getting positions for young Polish girls.

She claims she brought Sophia from Poland at an expense of $100. The prosecution charges that Mrs. Buszaki insured the girl's life for $100, and had insured many other girls for whom she got positions. After the girl's death, the secret investigation found four three-grains of arsenic in the stomach. Mrs. Buszaki claimed she gave the girl some white powder, but under the doctor's orders, the doctor in the case were called, and it was found that two of the prescriptions for Sophia Buszaki for the last two weeks were never filled, but were left on the table in the house. The prosecution will try to prove that the girl was murdered for the insurance money. Chas. E. Crowley for the defense, will set up the suicide theory.

Manitoba Fisheries Investigation.

Winnipeg, Oct. 19.—The fisheries commission, under Chairman Prof. Prior, was in session here until Friday. The evidence went to show that the whitefish increased in size, owing to the close season in the summer. Many of the witnesses agreed that the restrictions were necessary, but several thought there was some possibility of fish in the bay.
